Servers and Stored Procedures Quick question, does anybody know if you can use a linked server and stored procedures? I have already created a linked server and am able to view information etc from that server in a view, but I am having trouble writing a stored procedure that accesses the same database. I cannot use sp_executesql because I need to pass a username and password. The query works fine when run separately, but when I pass it as a stored procedure it throws a dynamic query error. Thanks! A: In a simple situation, a stored procedure can be used just like a View.

However, there are a few things to keep in mind with Stored procedures: A Stored Procedure must not query or alter any data in the database other than that which is passed in through arguments. In your case, the Stored Procedure might only need to perform simple things, but in an actual application it is a huge no-no to have any alter or query the database. Sql server will throw an error if this is the case. The correct way to do a sp with parameters is using parameters, and the parameters should be wrapped with `sp_executesql` For performance reasons, Stored Procedures should be written in the most efficient manner, by some people this means no cursor loops, no user variables etc. A: You can reference linked servers using a query: select * from LinkedServer.DBName.dbo.TableName as T So, a stored procedure could use this like so:

declare @myUserName nvarchar(32) declare @myPassword nvarchar(32) declare @myCommand nvarchar(512) set @myUserName = set @myPassword = set @myCommand ='select * from'+ QUOTENAME(@myUserName) + '.DBName.dbo.TableName as T' sp_executesql
        @myCommand,
        @myCommand,
@myUserName, @myPassword
